GRANDVIEW.

The finest residence addition ever made to East Liverpool is situated on the east side of the Calcutta Road just north of the McKinnon Homestead and within 10 minutes walk of the Diamond.

Gas will be piped to this addition in a few weeks.

Street Car Line is being constructed and will run through Grandview.

Paved Street and Sidewalks and Electric Light extends from the city to within one block of Grandview.

From the numerous inquiries as to when these lots would be placed in the market there is no doubt but that the limited number of lots in the plat now offered the public will be sold in a short time. There are good, solid and substantial reasons for this demand for lots in Grandview--beautiful for situation--magnificent views of the Ohio Valley--above the smoke and fog--within easy reach of the city. Do you want to own your own home? Do you want to quit paying rent? Then Grandview is the place for you to save your rent money and let it buy you a home. See how easy we make it for you.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION BETWEEN GEORGE AND RINEHART.

Over That Broken Stone Trouble Continues and a Committee Will Have to See It.

That broken stone bill of Contractor Rinehart will probably come up again at the next meeting of council, and it is probable a committee will be appointed to go out and inspect the work. Contractor Rinehart says all he wants is to be treated just in the matter and he is willing to dig up the stone anywhere along the street to show the committee that he did his work properly. At the price allowed him by the engineer, four cents per cubic foot, he will lose money and he will not make anything at eight cents per foot. He had no specifications or contract for putting in the stone, but received his orders from the engineer and supposed he would at least be treated fairly. A representative of the News Review went over the entire street last night and, although the street has been paved for two years, it is in splendid shape and there is not a break in it from the top to the bottom.

tom. The engineer still maintains that the contractor got all that was coming to him and the stone was not properly broken. The contractor wants a committee appointed and says he is willing to abide by their decision, as he is satisfied they will find the work in splendid shape.

THE SURPRISE CLOTHING HOUSE.

Story of It.

As stated some time ago Salineville voters will vote on prohibition next Saturday, May 19. Back of this is an interesting story. Four years ago the village council passed a prohibitory ordinance. The opposition made such a fight over it that at the next meeting the members of council adopted a resolution declaring the ordinance forbidding the sale of intoxicating liquors within the corporate limits of the village suspended. As the Buckeye State says, where the members of council secured their legal authority for suspending an ordinance already a law, was not explained, but they did it anyhow, and subsequent councils have allowed the matter to remain in that shape. Each council has gone on record as in favor of prohibitory law and opposed to enforcing it. The people will endeavor to assist the council by a decision one way or the other May 19.

Claims to Be 122 Years Old.

Infirmary Directors Tarr and McBride this week visited John Reddick, the aged negro who is sick on McQueen's run near the lower end of Wellsville. Reddick says he is 122 years old. He lives with his wife and son. The son is 60 years old. The old man has dropsy. The family is destitute. If the old man is able he will be moved to the infirmary, but it is doubted if he is strong enough to stand the journey.

Expect to Be on Time.

Sebring News.

The new pottery is progressing rapidly, and it is expected it will be under roof by June 1. Two kilns are completed and others rising from the ground. An army of masons and bricklayers are at work on the walls, and the carpenters are doing their work as the wall progresses. Mr. Green says the pottery will be running on schedule time and making ware by July 1.

All the news in the News Review.

Mayor Davidson is determined that the saloons of the city shall be kept closed after hours and on Sunday, and will show no leniency to the saloonkeeper who is violating the laws and ordinances.

The mayor stated this morning that he didn't propose having liquor sold on Sunday and the saloons must be kept closed on that day. He said they had six days a week in which to conduct their business and they must close up on Sunday. All the officers will be instructed to keep a close watch on the saloons, and the party found violating the law will be arrested and taken before the mayor, where he will be shown no mercy. The mayor states that every saloonkeeper who appears before him for violating the ordinances will get the full extent of the law or $25 and costs for each and every offense. The same thing holds good in regard to keeping open after hours, as Davidson is becoming tired of so much drunkenness on Sunday and is going to find out where the tipplers get their liquor.

Don't worry. It will kill you quicker than almost any other method you can take to shorten your life. Do the best you can as a true and honorable man and leave the result in the hand of the Master.

PRINCIPAL VS. INTEREST.

Don't take stock in an investment which promises great interest, pays
the promise for a time and then robs
you of principal, and chances for further interest, on that investment at least, glide along the moonbeams for overhead, infinitely beyond your reach.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

There was a meeting of the public library committee held last night. The omnipresent reporter was conspicuous by his absence, as was also the spirit of complete and loving harmony. In the meantime, the public at large awaits developments, hoping that good judgment, supplied by genuine gray matter, will control.

THE BOASTER.

When a cunning and unscrupulous boaster, engaged in journalism, makes boast that he has the merchants of a city under his thumb, and asserts that he can make them bow down
and obey him at the mere expression of his will, it is sure evidence that the evil one has deserted his willing tool, robbed him of his usual astuteness and cunning, and laid bare the evidence that the boaster is sadly deficient in either common manhood
or good gray matter.

OUR POSTOFFICE.

Why, oh why—echo answers why,
is our postoffice left in its present condition? The public at large are very anxious to know the cause of the delay in fixing up our postoffice.
It certainly presents a very dilapidated appearance and in the words of the prophet Daniel of olden times is something of a nuisance. We would respectfully suggest that if any of our bosom friends has the contract,
and we believe so, if the court
knows herself and she thinks she do, we would respectfully suggest to the bosom friend aforesaid that in the interests of cleanliness, the pursuit of legitimate business and business pleasure in general the matter should be expedited with all expedition.

BRYAN AND TOWNE.

Ticket Nominated by Populist Convention.

THE NEBRASKAN BY ACCLAMATION.

Convention Went Wild With Enthusiasm Over the Naming of the Democratic Leader—Struggle Occurred Over Question of Nominating a Running Mate.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 11.—The national Populist convention concluded its session at 1 o'clock this morning, and adjourned sine die after nominating the following ticket:

For President—W. J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice President—CHARLES A. TOWNE, of Minnesota.

The nomination of Mr. Towne was only accomplished after a struggle of several hours' duration, in which an effort was made to have the nomination of a vice presidential candidate referred to a committee, to confer with the Democratic and Silver Republican parties in their national conventions. A motion to this effect was defeated by a vote of 268 to 492. Both candidates were nominated by acclamation, but before the result was reached various candidates were placed in nomination and their names successively withdrawn. Both nominations were accomplished amid shouts of enthusiasm. Among those nominated were Rhynides, of Pennsylvania, and Lentz, of Ohio.

The real contest of the convention was the fight over the vice presidency, or rather the fight over the proposition not to make any nomination for the vice presidential office, but to refer the entire matter to a committee to be appointed to confer with the Democrats and Silver Republicans in their conventions to be held in Kansas City. Both the propositions to nominate and to refer and also compromise suggestions were presented and upon them was based the debate.

Speeches were made by E. Gerry Brown and George F. Washburn, who, both from the state of Massachusetts, entered on propositions, by Senators Butler and Allen, who did not; by General Weaver and Jerry Simpson, who was against Towne's nomination; by Dr. Taylor, of Chicago, who spoke warmly for Charles A. Towne, and by others. They presented all sides and shades of the controversy, the debate lasting far into the night before the close was reached.

The exciting event of the convention was reached when ex-Congressman Kelly, of South Dakota, becoming excited over a failure to secure recognition, rose in his seat and denounced the occupant of the chair as a "bunco steerer." To this Chairman Patterson responded spiritedly. There were cries of "put him out," and a number of delegates gathered about Mr. Kelly. Quiet was, however, soon restored.

When the time came for the nomination of a candidate for president, there was no roll call of states. Senator Allen, of Nebraska, being introduced. This could mean the nomination of but one man, Bryan, and a demonstration occurred. Senator Allen spoke as follows:

"He embodies in his political convictions, in his life, all that is good in an American citizen, all that is pure and loyal, all that the most exacting could desire; a statesman of ripe experience, a philosopher, a patriot without a peer on this or any other continent. Peerless, bold, determined, thoroughly united to the interests of the great mass of his countrymen, who would make and will make an ideal candidate for the exalted office of president of the United States. Since the result of the election of 1896 was known to the American people, among the fusion forces of the United States there has been but one name connected with the office and with the nomination at this time. He is the embodiment of all that opposes plutocracy, that opposes greed, that opposes the exercise of criminal power in public life. He is, in my judgment, the most American citizen of the age. I think he is an orator, as a statesman, the equal of Webster and Clay, if not their superior. He was a Nebraskan, but belongs now to the world. Without further discussion, without further discussion of this magnificent man, I present to this convention, this hero, statesman and orator, William Jennings Bryan."

The announcement of Mr. Bryan's name was the signal for an outburst. The Minnesota delegation hoisted a large star having the portrait of Mr. Bryan in the center, and the convention cheered again, more vigorously than before.

When his voice could be heard, Chairman Patterson announced:

"I have the pleasure to introduce General James B. Weaver, of Iowa."

Another round of cheers rang out as the veteran from Iowa came forward to second the nomination of Mr. Bryan. He spoke in part as follows:

"I had the honor to present at St. Louis the name of the distinguished gentleman who has just been mentioned," said General Weaver. "I am glad that I can say here to-day that there has never been a moment from that day to this that I have regretted, or any Populist in America has regretted, that he was the choice of the convention. The century past has produced but three great civic names—Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and William Jennings Bryan. The delegates in this convention are disciples of the first, many of them helped put the second in the chair, and we are followers of the third. It is with peculiar satisfaction and with the most unselfish purpose that I arise before you to second the nomination of William Jennings Bryan as president of the United States."

Jerry Simpson was then announced, amid more cheers. It was enough, he said, to say of Mr. Bryan that he had risen head and shoulders above his peers in the Democratic party, and that he had also captured the People's party as well. Mr. Bryan, he declared, represented the struggle for human rights, and he wanted the Populists to do all in their power to elect him, thus taking the first step toward restoring the country to its old-time glory.

G. F. Washburn, of Massachusetts, added his eulogy. He said:

"I rise to second the nomination of William J. Bryan because embodied in him is the spirit of many millions of free American people. He has the wisdom of Jefferson, the heroism of Jackson and the magnetism of Lincoln. The hope of the nation rests in that personality, and I trust that he will be nominated by acclamation."

The chair recognized "Cyclone" Davis, of Texas, and a shout went up as the tall form of Mr. Davis loomed up.

Mr. Davis announced that in former conventions he had been a political opponent of Mr. Bryan, but had now come over to the ranks of the elect, and believed that in him lay the hopes of the nation and the only man who can "throttle the oppressors of the people."

"We have Bryan clubs down our way," said the speaker, "and I can promise you next fall a Bryan club of 350,000 majority. We are with him heart and soul. McKinley has been called the Napoleon of republican politics, and perhaps the name is not inappropriate, for we all know that Napoleon made a dash into the Orient and it did not pan out very well."

Keeping up his Napoleonic simile, the speaker predicted that the "Napoleon of republican politics" would meet his Waterloo next November.

There was loud calls of "Butler," "Butler," and Marion Butler, of North Carolina, was greeted with applause as he came forward.

Briefly, but eloquently, Senator Butler seconded Bryan's nomination. "I, for one, said he, 'will put into this fight all that is in my power. I know every Populist in the United States will do the same in any capacity he may be told to act, and I appeal to you to make his election certain next November.'"

W. J. Thomas, of Colorado, the next speaker, said that Colorado had never been behind in the espousal of reform measures, and that the state would again be found in the column in 1900, as a supporter of Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Olds, of Pennsylvania, now 86 years old, was next introduced.

Mr. Olds, bent and whitebearded, said that he had walked 1,000 miles to vote for Henry Clay in 1844. "I came 1,000 miles to vote for W. J. Bryan in this convention," said Mr. Olds, "and I hope you will not allow me to be defeated, as I was in 1844."

Cries of "We won't," greeted Mr. Olds, as he sat down.

Senator Allen, of Nebraska, then stepped forward.

"Mr. Chairman," said he, amid perfect silence, "I move that the rules of this convention be suspended and that William Jennings Bryan be nominated by acclamation for president of the United States."

Amid the din that followed Senator Allen's motion and its seconding, the speaker's voice was faintly heard calling on those delegates who favored the motion to rise and remain standing.

As one man the convention arose. Hats, umbrellas, flags and canes were waved in the air amid deafening cheers, the uproar being increased by the band playing "Old Hundred." Some enthusiastic delegate tore loose a large picture of Mr. Bryan, hanging in front of the speaker's desk, and hoisted it to the table, where, cheering for Bryan, he held it while the convention applauded frantically.

"I propose three cheers for W. J. Bryan," cried George F. Washburn, of Massachusetts. They were given with a will, and the convention then quieted down.

"I announce the nomination, by a unanimous vote, of William Jennings Bryan for president of the United States," said Chairman Patterson, as soon as he could be heard.

Another cheer greeted this announcement.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 11.—At a line-knot convention 17 young ladies took the white veil and 20 sisters took the final vows.

THE POPULIST PLATFORM.

The Gold Standard Act of the Present Congress Denounced—Other Points of the Platform.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 11.—The platform adopted by the People's party national convention consists of a preamble and a long series of resolutions. The preamble congratulates the People's party on the marvelous growth of its principles during the last four years among people of all political parties. This condition, the platform continues, gives renewed hope and courage for the future, in the efforts of the party to avert the subversion of free institutions by corporate power. And to resist the evident purpose of the Republican party to establish a strongly centralized imperial government. The resolutions, on imperialism and militarism deplore the conduct of the administration in the Spanish-American war and denounce its conduct in connection with the Philippines. Referring to the latter matter they say it is in conflict with all the precedents of our national life, at war with the constitution and without reasonable excuse. Demand is made for the cessation of this war. With reference, in this connection, to Porto Rico, it is declared that the declaration of independence, the constitution and the American flag are one and inseparable. It is also declared that the island of Porto Rico is a part of the territory of the United States, made so by our promises and the consent of the Porto Ricans themselves.

There is a strong resolution of sympathy for the Boers, a declaration against the monopolizing of public land for speculative purposes, a demand for a return to the original homestead policy, a declaration for the placing of all goods controlled by the trusts upon the free tariff list, a condemnation for the governor of Idaho and the federal government in connection with the Couer d'Alene troubles, and the usual demand for the initiative and referendum.

Trusts are denounced and the Populist methods for the control of public utilities, such as the railroads and the telegraph systems, and the issuance of money, is recommended as the proper remedy to cope with the trust evil. It is said the people must act directly, without the intervention of representatives who may be controlled or influenced, hence they demand direct legislation giving to the people the law-making and veto power, under the initiative and referendum. A majority of the people, they assert, can never be corruptly influenced.

The importation of Japanese labor under contracts is denounced as the notorious and flagrant violation of the laws, and the resolution pledges the party to promote a stringent exclusion law against all kinds of Mongolian and Malayan immigration.

The gold standard act of the present congress is denounced in strong terms, and it is asserted that "while barring out the money of the constitution, this law opens the printing mints of the treasury to the free coining of paper money to enrich the few and impoverish the many."

The system of issuing injunctions in cases of dispute between employers and employees is, under certain circumstances, denounced as an evil, and to remedy it legislation is demanded. The election of president, vice president and United States senators by direct vote of the people is also urged, as is the government ownership of railroads and telegraph lines, home rule in the territories, the employment of idle labor on public works in time of depression, and the payment of just pensions to disabled soldiers, and the establishment of postal savings banks. A fair ballot is also demanded and the wholesale system of disfranchising by coercion and intimidation in some states is condemned as unrepresentative and undemocratic, and to remedy this defect it is declared to be the duty of the several legislatures to take such action as will secure a full, free and fair ballot and an honest count.

BARKER AND DONNELLY THE NOMINEES.

Middle-of-the-Road Populists Named Them—Howard Withdrew In the Interest of Harmony.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—The Middle-of-the-Road Populists nominated the following ticket:

For President—WHARTON BARKER, of Pennsylvania.

For Vice President—IGNATIUS DONNELLY, of Minnesota.

For a time during the session it appeared as if nothing could prevent a complete disruption of the plans so carefully wrought out by the handful of men who separated themselves on Feb. 19, at Lincoln, Neb., from the fusionist element of the People's party. Since Tuesday a steady current against the cut and dried choice of Barker and Donnelly by the initiative and referendum plan had almost destroyed the foundation upon which that ticket stood. Former Congressman Howard, of Alabama, had suddenly become the idol of an apparently winning number of delegates, and he clinched his claims on the presidential nomination through his eloquent address in assuming the temporary chairmanship of the convention on Wednesday.

As the time drew near for nominations word was quietly passed, confirmed by Mr. Howard himself, that the Barker following would bolt

the convention should their leader be turned down. Owing to the fact that the Alabama delegation could not support Mr. Howard, matters were further complicated. Howard took the only course for the restoration of harmony. He announced that he had no ambition to head the ticket and came to Cincinnati without the slightest expectation of being named. Then he withdrew his name. Nevertheless, when the rollcall was completed on the first ballot, Howard was at the top of the column—only a few short of the nomination.

On the second ballot Howard's plainly stated desire for harmony took effect, and the 70 votes which went to Donnelly on the first roll call were gradually worked over to the Barker column, it being understood that Mr. Donnelly's name had been withdrawn, although the Minnesota delegation protested against the withdrawal. Minnesota was passed at its own request, and when the other states had voted it was apparent that the 48 votes of Minnesota could settle everything in a harmonious manner by going to the Pennsylvanian. They were cast for Barker and gave him the requisite majority over all. The generous Howard moved to make the selection of Howard unanimous, which was done.

Without a dissenting voice, Ignatius Donnelly was declared vice-presidential nominee. The next order of business was the matter of national committeemen and the selection of a chairman for that body. Jo A. Parker, of Kentucky, was chosen national chairman, a victory for the anti-Barker people.

The convention was then declared adjourned sine die.

Followers of Social Democracy and Eugene V. Debs for the presidency of the United States found small comfort in the convention, which they had hoped a few days ago would endorse their idol. Three of them—W. H. Forner, of Texas, A. W. Ricker, and L. M. Morris, of Iowa—left the convention after the nominations had been completed, and it was reported would support the Debs ticket, but their action attracted no attention whatever.

GREENBACK PLANK ADOPTED

But Middle-of-the-Roads Declared for Free Silver Until Their Plan Was Adopted.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—The Middle-of-the-road Populist convention reiterated the Omaha platform. The money plank demanded:

A scientific and absolute paper money, based upon the entire wealth and population of the nation, not redeemable in any specified commodity, but made a full legal tender for all debts and receivable for all taxes and public dues and issued by the government only without the intervention of banks and in sufficient quantity to meet the demands of commerce, is the best currency that can be devised; but until such a financial system is secured, which we shall press for adoption, we favor the free and unlimited coining of both silver and gold at the legal ratio of 16 to 1.

Some of the other planks were:

Fifth—We demand the levy and collection of a graduated tax on incomes and inheritances and a constitutional amendment to secure the same, if necessary.

Sixth—We demand the election of president, vice president, federal judges and United States senators by direct vote of the people.

Seventh—We are opposed to trusts, and declare the contentions between the old parties on the monopoly question is a sham battle, and that no solution of this mighty problem is possible without the adoption of the principles of public ownership of public utilities.

McALL MISSION WORK.

Convention Opened at Pittsburg—Mrs. Charles H. Parkhurst, of New York, Presided.

PITTSBURG, May 11.—The seventeenth annual meeting of the McAll association was opened at the First Presbyterian church by the president of the association, Mrs. Charles H. Parkhurst, followed by devotional exercises by Mrs. L. H. Wayland. Mrs. Charles H. Spencer, president of the local auxiliary, made the address of welcome. At the rollcall of delegates 44 answered. They represent the association in the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Lunch was served to the members and delegates at the church and the following program was followed in the afternoon session:

Devotional service, Miss Anna H. Parsons; report of general secretary, Miss Caroline Remington; report of corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. L. Wayland; hymn 407, "Work for the Night is Coming"; report of treasurer, Mrs. A. R. Perkins; solo, Miss Catherine Miller; address, "Our Open Door," Mrs. Francis Jordan; prayer, reports from auxiliaries.

The event of the evening session was the address of Rev. Lyman Abbott, late pastor of the Plymouth church, Brooklyn, who talked on the objects of the association and the work they have done in France.

A. W. Scott, the Well Known Local Architect, Secures the Plum.

Our townsman is receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends today, in consequence of the fact that he is the lucky architect and individual whose model of the Carnegie library was last night accepted by the library committee. Mr. Scott has just cause for pride in this verdict, as there were 31 competing architects in the race, hailing from the leading cities and embracing men of national repute in architecture. The public is aware of the fact that the contest finally narrowed down to three contestants. The library committee met last night and, after carefully considering the three remaining plans and specifications, adopted the model of our townsman by a vote of three to two.

The citizens of East Liverpool will note with pleasure the fact that a local architect has carried off this much-to-be-desired prize, in competition with such a brilliant field of talent. Of course the public is aware of the fact that the award was made in conformity with the idea of superior beauty, utility and excellence, as the identity of the competing architects was held secret, with no names or marks attached to the plans by which the artist could be recognized.

A. W. Scott is a comparatively young man, in the very prime and vigor of life, and yet he has been engaged in producing architectural designs for the past 14 years. He is an intelligent enthusiast upon the beauties of architecture, loving his profession very dearly, and making use of every talent vouchsafed him by the hand of the Master in forging to the front, believing that there are always choice gifts in view for those who reach the top rounds of the ladder. The earnest wish of his host of friends is that the contemplated structure may prove a lasting monument to his skill.

Arrest Expected.

This morning Detective Joe Moore, of the Cleveland & Pittsburg force, spent a short time in the city, and it is very likely that an arrest will be made before very long. At the station Moore was met by Officer Dawson and the two took a trip to the lower end of the city. They would not say anything about their intentions, but future developments will be awaited with interest.

COMPLAINTS.

Street Commissioner Bryan Filed
Three With Mayor Davidson
* This Morning.

Commissioner Bryan has started the crusade against the people who throw paper on the streets, and this morning registered three complaints with Mayor Davidson. They were turned over to the marshal, who notified the people to be more careful in the future.

Parties in the city have already commenced to steal flowers and yesterday Mayor Davidson received a complaint from Sheridan avenue residents, stating that somebody had raided their flower beds the night before.

Mayor Davidson has no sympathy for people who steal flowers and says he proposes to make an example of the first offender and give him a fine that he will not soon forget. The law provides that the offender shall be fined not more than $150 or be imprisoned not more than 30 days in jail. The mayor says the parties are not satisfied with taking the flowers, but the majority of times destroy the plant.

Ed. Cunningham, who was arrested yesterday for being drunk, was fined $6.00 and released.

Frank Phillips is still in jail awaiting the arrival of some one with $5.00 to secure his release.

Gore Spilled.

There was a small riot at "Chic" Gamble's house, Wellsville, one night this week, but when the police arrived the only indications of it were splashes of blood around the house. The neighbors complain that riots and disturbances have been nightly occurrences there for several weeks. Gamble was formerly a resident of East Liverpool.

Not Until Next Year.

An exchange calls attention to the fact that taxes this year will not be based on the new decennial appraisal. The appraisal will have to pass through the hands of both county and state boards of equalization before it can be placed on the duplicate, and this cannot be accomplished before 1901.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Joseph Maley, a roller at the freight depot, is off duty on account of illness.

The household effects of Frank Nolan were received at the freight depot this morning from Salem.

William Daniels, a prominent contractor of Allegheny, is spending a few days in the city on business.

The last of the trading boats which have been tied up about this place, left yesterday afternoon for the south.

Mrs. E. W. Thompson is seriously ill at her home on Second street with typhoid fever. Her condition is very low.

The Grand Army will meet in their hall this evening and further the arrangements for the Memorial day exercises.

The noon train, due in this city at 12:15, was one hour and 45 minutes late in arriving today. The delay was caused by some trouble on the river division of the road near Empire.

Yesterday afternoon a dog ate some poisoned meat in Locust alley and afterward walked down Center alley, and when near Washington street lay down and died.

At a meeting of kilnmen's local No. 9, which will be held in Brotherhood hall this evening, delegates to the national convention will be elected. A lively meeting is expected.

The entertainment given last evening by the Ladies' Aid society of the Smith's Ferry M. E. church was attended by a large number of persons from this city. The affair was a success in every particular and a neat sum of money was realized.

William McComb, accompanied by Mrs. Susan McComb and Mrs. Agnes Robinson, who have been spending the week in the city visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Cuthbert, of May street, returned to their home in Manchester, N. H., yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Randall, of the Watch Tower Tract society of Allegheny, who has been spending several days in the city, left yesterday for Canton. Mr. Randall has been employed in missionary work almost all of his life, and has spent 20 years in this work in China. While here he was the guest of A. J. Moore, of Fourth street.

Captain David McDevitt has received a very favorable letter from Brigadier General Thomas W. Minchell, of Cleveland. General Minchell and Colonel Macey, with their staff and field officers to the number of 24, together with a good representation from every one of the 13 companies of the regiment, will be here and appear in the parade on July 4.

The river continues to fall and the marks at the wharf today registered 3.4 feet and falling. This is too low for boats to run and it is expected that unless a heavy rain falls, navigation will be suspended on the Ohio by tomorrow. The wickets at the Davis island dam were raised and this will cause an increased fall. The river is lower now for this time of the year than it has been for two years.

GATES' RESIGNATION.

Mission to Paris Given as an Excuse.

LAMB GIVES ANOTHER REASON.

He Said the Wire Magnate Knew Something Was Coming—Lambert Also Quit as President—Gates' Adherents Chosen to Fill Vacancies.

New York, May 11.—Changes of a sweeping character in the affairs of the American Steel and Wire company were announced, after a session of the board of directors in this city.

John W. Gates resigned the chairmanship of the board of directors, and is now on his way to Europe. He is succeeded by Alfred Clifford, of Chicago.

All the new officers, directors and committeemen named are said to be in absolute harmony with Mr. Gates and his policy.

Following the meeting of the directors a voluminous statement narrating in detail the causes which led to the changes in the personnel of the company was given out. It started off with Mr. Gates' letter of resignation. In it he states that for more than a year he had contemplated retirement, and should have taken the step on May 1 but for the recent controversy. He justified his action in closing the mills three weeks ago, and protests against the fabric of abuse and vilification which has been heaped upon him, based upon an alleged interview. He said he resigned to accept the place of Illinois commissioner to the Paris exposition, to which he was appointed by Governor Tanner.

George Alfred Lamb, the lawyer, whose charges against President Gates were dismissed on Wednesday by Magistrate Zeller, gave out this statement after he heard of Mr. Gates' departure for Europe:

"Mr. Gates came to New York with the avowed determination of fighting the proceedings brought against him to a finish and of inflicting drastic punishment on all of his critics, and especially upon anyone who dared to prosecute him. The proceedings brought, however, seemed to have promised more interesting developments than Mr. Gates cared to face, and doubtless upon the advice of his formidable array of eminent counsel he has taken advantage of the first technical opportunity that presented itself to leave the country."

A GIRL KILLED

IN STRIKE RIOT.

Rock Thrown at a Car Struck Her and She Died Afterward at a Hospital.

St. Louis, May 11.—Another fatality as a result of the street car strike occurred here. As Flora Siegfried, a young woman, was crossing Washington street, carrying an infant in her arms, she was hit on the head with a brick that had been hurled at a passing car on the suburban system. Her skull was fractured, and she died after being taken to a hospital.

The street car men of the East St. Louis lines struck.

A conference was held between Governor Stephens, the members of the executive committee of the local Street Railway Employees' association and the officers and attorneys of the Transit company.

The strikers' officials offered to arbitrate, provided the proposition to do so came from the railway company. The railway officials firmly but courteously refused to entertain any such proposal, stating that they had nothing to arbitrate.

Pearson Seated by the House.

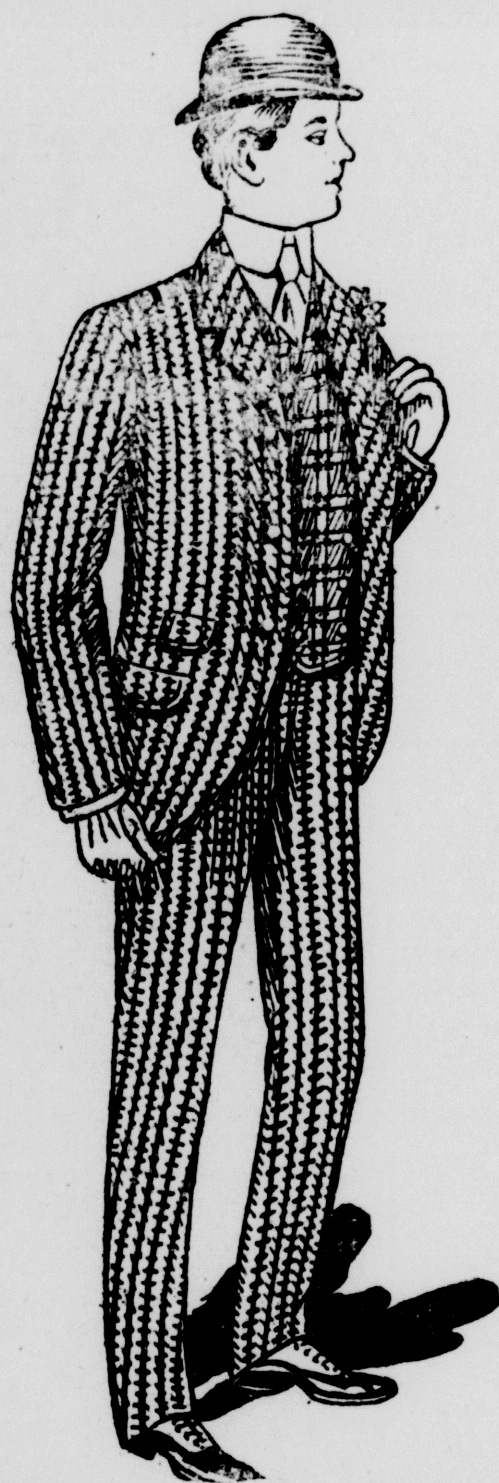

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The house, by a narrow margin of two votes, unseated Mr. Crawford, of North Carolina, a Democrat, and seated in his place Mr. Pearson, of North Carolina. The minority resolution declaring the sitting member entitled to the seat was defeated by one vote. Mr. Jack, of Pennsylvania, Republican, voted with the Democrats on both rollcalls. On the first vote, 15 Republicans were absent and unpaired, and on the second 12 were absent and unpaired.

Strike at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 11.—All was quiet at the Buttonwood mine, but after the riots of the day before a great many of the English-speaking workmen did not report for work, and there was only a partial resumption of operations at the colliery. The strikers were active again and had their pickets out on the road leading to the mine. They did not resort to force, however, but tried to persuade the English-speaking miners from going to work.

15TH YEAR. NO. 282.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1900.

TWO CENTS

COUNCILMEN WERE SURPRISED

To Learn That the Office of Street Inspector Does Not Legally Exist.

WAS A TEMPORARY MOVE

But Has Been Allowed to Continue by Default Although Without Sanction of Law.

IT WILL BE INVESTIGATED.

A few days ago several councilmen happened to meet in a prominent part of the city and the question of street work was brought up and a statement made that Street Inspector Harris should be told to perform some task when one of the members present said:

"The street commissioner is handled by council as though he had no duties to perform and an inspector receives $2.50 a day to do his work. It is not the fault of the commissioner who is ignored by council. The city now has the street commissioner, engineer and inspector doing the same work."

Another member spoke up and said: "What is the use of having an inspector?" and another said: "None, unless it is for the purpose of giving somebody a job. If I was street commissioner I would get in a row every day when the inspector attempted to perform some of my work or even superintend it. The commissioner is elected by the people to look after the streets and alleys, and if I was him I would do it. Every time we pay the inspector we do it illegally. There is no such office in this city, and the council has no right to have such an officer. I am heartily in favor of taking some action in the matter before council gets in trouble."

One member of council who had investigated the matter said: "Harris and Welch were employed in August, 1898, to superintend the work of repairing the streets which had been damaged by the heavy rains. The motion read that they be 'temporarily engaged' and when the work was finished Welch was laid off, but Harris was kept on duty although a motion was made in one council meeting to lay him off. He was kept on duty all winter for some purpose or the other, but no further action was ever taken by council until last fall when an ordinance was introduced creating the office of street inspector and fixing the salary. Whether or not council found they had no right to pass the ordinance I don't know, but it never appeared after the first reading, when it was referred to the solicitor. There is no such an office as the law defines the officers for cities the size of East Liverpool. The law says council shall make provision for the payment of city officers. This has never been done. If we have authority to hire him we have authority to hire a dozen more. It would be different if there was any need for the inspector, but he is practically a foreman of street work and the commissioner is elected for that purpose. Council cannot enforce any of his acts and he has no authority whatever. When he orders an improvement or repair made the owner of the property need pay no attention to him, as that is the duty of the street commissioner and council cannot delegate the authority to an inspector. All the other city officers are sworn and give bond, but he does neither. The law says council shall provide money for the payment of the street commissioner and his force, but they cannot take the control of the streets out of his hands, as they have done, and do it legally. The inspector seems to be second in authority to the engineer and is so treated, but he has no authority whatever.

"Council paid him all winter to do practically nothing and he should have been laid off when he had finished the work for which he was engaged. He is not treated as a city official and the street car fare collected by him would amount to several dollars.

"There is not a question in my mind but that council, as individuals, could be compelled to refund every dollar to the city that has been paid the inspector since he finished the work for which he was engaged."

BOILER EXPLOSION.

TWO BENNETT BROTHERS SERIOUSLY INJURED

By the Bolwing Up of a Boiler of a Grist Mill Down at St. Mary's, W. Va.

Yesterday afternoon William Bennett received a telegram telling him that his two brothers were seriously injured by the explosion of the boiler of a grist mill about two miles from St. Mary's, W. Va. The injured men have two brothers, William and Thomas, living here. Thomas left this morning to learn the extent of the injuries and to assist in caring for them.

DISAGREEMENT ON LIBRARY PLAN

Majority of Committee Accepts the Plans of A. W. Scott, of This City.

COL. TAYLOR AND W. L. SMITH

Vote Against It and Say the Plan Will Not Be Acceptable to the Public.

BOTH SIDES OF THE CASE.

The Carnegie library commission at a meeting held last night selected the plans of A. W. Scott for the new library building to be erected at the corner of Fourth street and Broadway.

All members of the commission except Brookes were present and the plans before them were discussed. Out of the 31 plans that had been submitted only three had been selected as available, and it was from these three the commission had to make the choice. When the plans had been received they had been opened and the name of the architect submitting them was in a sealed envelope and given to the chairman of the commission and the plans and envelopes numbered with corresponding numbers, so that the commission last night was considering plans numbered 29, 19 and 2. When a vote was taken Messrs. Taylor and Smith favored No. 2 and Travis, Peach and Kirk voted for No. 29. When the vote was announced Colonel Taylor at once resigned from the commission, as he said he could not serve if that plan was selected. When the envelope was opened it was found that the choice had fallen to A. W. Scott, of this city, and somebody made the suggestion that the other two envelopes be opened, but the suggestion was not acted upon and it will not be definitely known who the other two competitors were until the plans are returned to the owners, although it is almost definitely known that the No. 2 plan was submitted by Owsley, of Youngstown, and No. 19 by Mowbray & Uffinger, of New York.

The floor plan for the new library is almost an exact representation of Carnegie libraries erected by Andrew Carnegie in other parts of the country.

The site will not be graded, but some of the dirt will be taken off the Broadway side of the lot before the building is built. It will be located about 30 feet from the west side of the lot, 50 feet from the east side and about 38 feet from Fourth street, so that it will be almost in the center of the lot, allowing plenty of space for nice lawns.

The main entrance of the building will be from Fourth street. There will be a wide approach to the building, broad platform, stone steps and railing with neatly chased carved stone newels. The entrance will be of carved stone with two large stone columns supporting the piazza platform. The foundation will be of the best quality of blue flagstone, while the exterior of the main building will be of Pompeian gray brick laid up in white mortar, with stone and terra cotta trimmings. The building will be two stories with dome, dome skylights with a bronze figure on the apex. On each corner will be small domes with bronze torch pedestals.

The total height of the building from the Fourth street side to the top of the dome figure will be 84 feet.

Interior of Building.

The main floor will be subdivided into two large reading rooms 33x43, with a corridor 32 feet wide with librarian's office in the center. The walls in the reading rooms will be of beveled plate and copper leaded diamond cut glass and in the rear will be a large circling, one story stack room capable of holding 33,000 volumes. The second story will be subdivided into one large reading room; directors' room and rooms for special or scientific studies. The main corridor on the second floor will have an open court with white enameled railing around it and placed in such position that the librarian on the first floor can command or receive requests from any part of the building. The position of the librarian will also be such that she can observe any point of the building from one position through glass panels, doors and other devices.

The corridors will be finished with Italian marble wainscoting, with gray marble base, while the floors will be Mosaic with vitreous tile border. The residue of the building will have floors of block tile. There will be two stairways leading to basement and to second story made of black iron. The glass throughout the building will be plate. The floors will be constructed on steel eye beams with encaustic arches, the filling and cement making the building what is known as "non-combustible."

The principal doors leading to the corridor will be of rosewood, with carved moulding with beveled plate glass panels extending from top to bottom.

The Basement.

The basement will be a nine-foot story with tile and cement floors subdivided into fuel, storage and heater room in the rear under stack room, while under the main building will be the ladies' and gentlemen's lavatory and janitor's rooms, room for electric dynamo and rooms for ladies' and gentlemen's bicycles, each department being strictly separate and a separate stairway leading to each apartment with outside bicycle entrance to each apartment. The building will cover an area of 100x90 feet, and will be located on the lot in such a manner that the entrance will be directly opposite the main entrance of the Fourth street school building. The cost of the building is not to exceed $45,000.

The bids for the contract will be received as soon as possible and work commenced on the library. The architect will be placed under a bond of $10,000 to guarantee that the building does not cost more than the plans call for.

Mr. Peach, who voted for the plans of Scott, said he did so because he thought they were the best and would not have voted for them if he hadn't thought so. He said prominent contractors who had looked at the plans had stated they were the only plans that should be considered. Another reason he gave for voting for them was because they were the only two-story building plan in the whole lot submitted.

Mr. Travis stated that he voted for the plans because he thought they were the best of the three and much better adapted to the site.

THE EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

15TH YEAR. NO. 282.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1900.

TWO CENTS

COUNCILMEN WERE SURPRISED

To Learn That the Office of Street Inspector Does Not Legally Exist.

WAS A TEMPORARY MOVE

But Has Been Allowed to Continue by Default Although Without Sanction of Law.

IT WILL BE INVESTIGATED.

A few days ago several councilmen happened to meet in a prominent part of the city and the question of street work was brought up and a statement made that Street Inspector Harris should be told to perform some task when one of the members present said:

"The street commissioner is handled by council as though he had no duties to perform and an inspector receives $2.50 a day to do his work. It is not the fault of the commissioner who is ignored by council. The city now has the street commissioner, engineer and inspector doing the same work."

Another member spoke up and said: "What is the use of having an inspector?" and another said: "None, unless it is for the purpose of giving somebody a job. If I was street commissioner I would get in a row every day when the inspector attempted to perform some of my work or even superintended it. The commissioner is elected by the people to look after the streets and alleys, and if I was him I would do it. Every time we pay the inspector we do it illegally. There is no such office in this city, and the council has no right to have such an officer. I am heartily in favor of taking some action in the matter before council gets in trouble."

One member of council who had investigated the matter said: "Harris and Welch were employed in August, 1898, to superintend the work of repairing the streets which had been damaged by the heavy rains. The motion read that they be 'temporarily engaged' and when the work was finished Welch was laid off, but Harris was kept on duty although a motion was made in one council meeting to lay him off. He was kept on duty all winter for some purpose or the other, but no further action was ever taken by council until last fall when an ordinance was introduced creating the office of street inspector and fixing the salary. Whether or not council found they had no right to pass the ordinance I don't know, but it never appeared after the first reading, when it was referred to the solicitor. There is no such an office as the law defines the officers for cities the size of East Liverpool. The law says council shall make provision for the payment of city officers. This has never been done. If we have authority to hire him we have authority to hire a dozen more. It would be different if there was any need for the inspector, but he is practically a foreman of street work and the commissioner is elected for that purpose. Council cannot enforce any of his acts and he has no authority whatever. When he orders an improvement or repair made the owner of the property need pay no attention to him, as that is the duty of the street commissioner and council cannot delegate the authority to an inspector. All the other city officers are sworn and give bond, but he does neither. The law says council shall provide money for the payment of the street commissioner and his force, but they cannot take the control of the streets out of his hands, as they have done, and do it legally. The inspector seems to be second in authority to the engineer and is so treated, but he has no authority whatever.

"Council paid him all winter to do practically nothing and he should have been laid off when he had finished the work for which he was engaged. He is not treated as a city official and the street car fare collected by him would amount to several dollars.

"There is not a question in my mind but that council, as individuals, could be compelled to refund every dollar to the city that has been paid the inspector since he finished the work for which he was engaged."

BOILER EXPLOSION.

TWO BENNETT BROTHERS SERIOUSLY INJURED

DISAGREEMENT ON LIBRARY PLAN

Majority of Committee Accepts the Plans of A. W. Scott, of This City.

COL. TAYLOR AND W. L. SMITH

Vote Against It and Say the Plan Will Not Be Acceptable to the Public.

BOTH SIDES OF THE CASE.

The Carnegie library commission at a meeting held last night selected the plans of A. W. Scott for the new library building to be erected at the corner of Fourth street and Broadway.

All members of the commission except Brookes were present and the plans before them were discussed. Out of the 31 plans that had been submitted only three had been selected as available, and it was from these three the commission had to make the choice. When the plans had been received they had been opened and the name of the architect submitting them was in a sealed envelope and given to the chairman of the commission and the plans and envelopes numbered with corresponding numbers, so that the commission last night was considering plans numbered 29, 19 and 2. When a vote was taken Messrs. Taylor and Smith favored No. 2 and Travis, Peach and Kirk voted for No. 29. When the vote was announced Colonel Taylor at once resigned from the commission, as he said he could not serve if that plan was selected. When the envelope was opened it was found that the choice had fallen to A. W. Scott, of this city, and somebody made the suggestion that the other two envelopes be opened, but the suggestion was not acted upon and it will not be definitely known who the other two competitors were until the plans are returned to the owners, although it is almost definitely known that the No. 2 plan was submitted by Owsley, of Youngstown, and No. 19 by Mowbray & Uffinger, of New York.

The floor plan for the new library is almost an exact representation of Carnegie libraries erected by Andrew Carnegie in other parts of the country.

The site will not be graded, but some of the dirt will be taken off the Broadway side of the lot before the building is built. It will be located about 30 feet from the west side of the lot, 50 feet from the east side and about 38 feet from Fourth street, so that it will be almost in the center of the lot, allowing plenty of space for nice lawns.

The main entrance of the building will be from Fourth street. There will be a wide approach to the building, broad platform, stone steps and railing with neatly chased carved stone newels. The entrance will be of carved stone with two large stone columns supporting the piazza platform. The foundation will be of the best quality of blue flagstone, while the exterior of the main building will be of Pompeian gray brick laid up in white mortar, with stone and terra cotta trimmings. The building will be two stories with dome, dome skylights with a bronze figure on the apex. On each corner will be small domes with bronze torch pedestals.

The total height of the building from the Fourth street side to the top of the dome figure will be 84 feet.

Interior of Building.

The main floor will be subdivided into two large reading rooms 33x43, with a corridor 32 feet wide with librarian's office in the center. The walls in the reading rooms will be of beveled plate and copper leaded diamond cut glass and in the rear will be a large circling, one story stack room capable of holding 33,000 volumes. The second story will be subdivided into one large reading room; directors' room and rooms for special or scientific studies. The main corridor on the second floor will have an open court with white enameled railing around it and placed in such position that the librarian on the first floor can command or receive requests from any part of the building. The position of the librarian will also be such that she can observe any point of the building from one position through glass panels, doors and other devices.

The corridors will be finished with Italian marble wainscoting, with gray marble base, while the floors will be mosaic with vitreous tile border. The residue of the building will have floors of block tile. There will be two stairways leading to basement and to second story made of black iron. The glass throughout the building will be plate. The floors will be constructed on steel eye beams with encaustic arches, the filling and cement making the building what is known as "non-combustible."

The principal doors leading to the corridor will be of rosewood, with carved moulding with beveled plate glass panels extending from top to bottom.

The Basement.

The basement will be a nine-foot story with tile and cement floors subdivided into fuel, storage and heater room in the rear under stack room, while under the main building will be the ladies' and gentlemen's lavatory and janitor's rooms, room for electric dynamo and rooms for ladies' and gentlemen's bicycles, each department being strictly separate and a separate stairway leading to each apartment. The building will cover an area of 100x90 feet, and will be located on the lot in such a manner that the entrance will be directly opposite the main entrance of the Fourth street school building. The cost of the building is not to exceed $45,000.

The bids for the contract will be received as soon as possible and work commenced on the library. The architect will be placed under a bond of $10,000 to guarantee that the building does not cost more than the plans call for.

Mr. Peach, who voted for the plans of Scott, said he did so because he thought they were the best and would not have voted for them if he hadn't thought so. He said prominent contractors who had looked at the plans had stated they were the only plans that should be considered. Another reason he gave for voting for them was because they were the only two-story building plan in the whole lot submitted.

Mr. Travis stated that he voted for the plans because he thought they were the best of the three and much better adapted to the site.

Contractor Rinehart says all he wants is to be treated just in the matter and he is willing to dig up the stone anywhere along the street to show the committee that he did his work properly. At the price allowed him by the engineer, four cents per cubic foot, he will lose money and he will not make anything at eight cents per foot. He had no specifications or contract for putting in the stone, but received his orders from the engineer and supposed he would at least be treated fairly. A representative of the News Review went over the entire street last night and, although the street has been paved for two years, it is in splendid shape and there is not a break in it from the top to the bottom.

Story of It.

As stated some time ago Salineville voters will vote on prohibition next Saturday, May 19. Back of this is an interesting story. Four years ago the village council passed a prohibitory ordinance. The opposition made such a fight over it that at the next meeting the members of council adopted a resolution declaring the ordinance forbidding the sale of intoxicating liquors within the corporate limits of the village suspended. As the Buckeye State says, where the members of council secured their legal authority for suspending an ordinance already a law, was not explained, but they did it anyhow, and subsequent councils have allowed the matter to remain in that shape. Each council has gone on record as in favor of prohibitory law and opposed to enforcing it. The people will endeavor to assist the council by a decision one way or the other May 19.

Claims to Be 122 Years Old.

Infirmity Directors Tarr and McBride this week visited John Reddick, the aged negro who is sick on McQueen's run near the lower end of Wellsville. Reddick says he is 122 years old. If the old man is able he will be moved to the infirmary, but it is doubted if he is strong enough to stand the journey.

Mr. Green says the pottery will be running on schedule time and making ware by July 1.

The mayor stated this morning that he didn't propose having liquor sold on Sunday and the saloons must be kept closed on that day. He said they had six days a week in which to conduct their business and they must close up on Sunday. All the officers will be instructed to keep a close watch on the saloons, and the party found violating the law will be arrested and taken before the mayor, where he will be shown no mercy. The mayor states that every saloonkeeper who appears before him for violating the ordinances will get the full extent of the law or $25 and costs for each and every offense. The same thing holds good in regard to keeping open after hours, as Davidson is becoming tired of so much drunkenness on Sunday and is going to find out where the tipplers get their liquor.

1895—Ex-Governor Ira J. Chase of Indiana died at Lubec, Me.; born 1834.
1899—Roswell P. Flower, ex-governor of New York, died at Eastport, N. Y.; born 1835.

FRIDAY, MAY 11, 1900.

DON'T WORRY.

Don't worry. It will kill you quicker than almost any other method you can take to shorten your life. Do the best you can as a true and honorable
man and leave the result in the hand of the Master.

PRINCIPAL VS. INTEREST.

Don't take stock in an investment
which promises great interest, pays
the promise for a time and then robs
you of principal, and chances for further interest, on that investment at least, glide along the moonbeams for overhead, infinitely beyond your reach.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.

There was a meeting of the public library committee held last night. The omnipresent reporter was conspicuous by his absence, as was also the spirit of complete and loving harmony. In the meantime, the public at large awaits developments, hoping that good judgment, supplied by genuine gray matter, will control.

THE BOASTER.

When a cunning and unscrupulous boaster, engaged in journalism, makes boast that he has the merchants of a city under his thumb, and asserts that he can make them bow down
and obey him at the mere expression
of his will, it is sure evidence that the evil one has deserted his willing tool, robbed him of his usual astuteness and cunning, and laid bare the evidence that the boaster is sadly
deficient in either common manhood
or good gray matter.

OUR POSTOFFICE.

Why, oh why—echo answers why,
is our postoffice left in its present condition? The public at large are very anxious to know the cause of the delay in fixing up our postoffice.
It certainly presents a very dilapidated appearance and in the words of the prophet Daniel of olden times is something of a nuisance. We would respectfully suggest that if any of
our bosom friends has the contract,
and we believe so, if the court
knows herself and she thinks she do,
we would respectfully suggest to the bosom friend aforesaid that in the interests of cleanliness, the pursuit of
legitimate business and business pleasure in general the matter should be expedited with all expedition.

BRYAN AND TOWNE.

Ticket Nominated by Populist Convention.

THE NEBRASKAN BY ACCLAMATION.

Convention Went Wild With Enthusiasm Over the Naming of the Democratic Leader—Struggle Occurred Over Question of Nominating a Running Mate.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 11.—The national Populist convention concluded its session at 1 o'clock this morning, and adjourned sine die after nominating the following ticket:

For President—W. J. BRYAN, of Nebraska.

For Vice President—CHARLES A. TOWNE, of Minnesota.

The nomination of Mr. Towne was only accomplished after a struggle of several hours' duration, in which an effort was made to have the nomination of a vice presidential candidate referred to a committee, to confer with the Democratic and Silver Republican parties in their national conventions. A motion to this effect was defeated by a vote of 268 to 492. Both candidates were nominated by acclamation, but before the result was reached various candidates were placed in nomination and their names successively withdrawn. Both nominations were accomplished amid shouts of enthusiasm. Among those nominated were Rhyndes, of Pennsylvania, and Lentz, of Ohio.

The real contest of the convention was the fight over the vice presidency, or rather the fight over the proposition not to make any nomination for the vice presidential office, but to refer the entire matter to a committee to be appointed to confer with the Democrats and Silver Republicans in their conventions to be held in Kansas City. Both the propositions to nominate and to refer and also compromise suggestions were presented and upon them was based the debate.

Speeches were made by E. Gerry Brown and George F. Washburn, who, both from the state of Massachusetts, uttered on propositions, by Senators Butler and Allen, who did not; by General Weaver and Jerry Simpson, who was against Towne's nomination; by Dr. Taylor, of Chicago, who spoke warmly for Charles A. Towne, and by others. They presented all sides and shades of the controversy, the debate lasting far into the night before the close was reached.

The exciting event of the convention was reached when ex-Congressman Kelly, of South Dakota, becoming excited over a failure to secure recognition, rose in his seat and denounced the occupant of the chair as a "bunco steerer." To this Chairman Patterson responded spiritedly. There were cries of "put him out," and a number of delegates gathered about Mr. Kelly. Quiet was, however, soon restored.

When the time came for the nomination of a candidate for president, there was no roll call of states, Senator Allen, of Nebraska, being introduced. This could mean the nomination of but one man, Bryan, and a demonstration occurred. Senator Allen spoke as follows:

"He embodies in his political convictions, in his life, all that is good in an American citizen, all that is pure and loyal, all that the most exacting could desire; a statesman of ripe experience, a philosopher, a patriot without a peer on this or any other continent. Peerless, bold, determined, thoroughly united to the interests of the great mass of his countrymen, who would make and will make an ideal candidate for the exalted office of president of the United States. Since the result of the election of 1896 was known to the American people, among the fusion forces of the United States there has been but one name connected with the office and with the nomination at this time. He is the embodiment of all that opposes plutocracy, that opposes greed, that opposes the exercise of criminal power in public life. He is, in my judgment, the most American citizen of the age. I think he is an orator, as a statesman, the equal of Webster and Clay, if not their superior. He was a Nebraskan, but belongs now to the world. Without further discussion, without further discussion of this magnificent man, I present to this convention, this hero, statesman and orator, William Jennings Bryan."

The announcement of Mr. Bryan's name was the signal for an outburst. The Minnesota delegation hoisted a large star having the portrait of Mr. Bryan in the center, and the convention cheered again, more vigorously than before.

When his voice could be heard, Chairman Patterson announced:

"I have the pleasure to introduce General James B. Weaver, of Iowa."

Another round of cheers rang out as the veteran from Iowa came forward to second the nomination of Mr. Bryan. He spoke in part as follows:

"I had the honor to present at St. Louis the name of the distinguished gentleman who has just been mentioned," said General Weaver. "I am glad that I can say here to-day that there has never been a moment from that day to this that I have regretted, or any Populist in America has regretted, that he was the choice of the convention. The century past has produced but three great civic names—Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln and William Jennings Bryan. The delegates in this convention are disciples of the first, many of them helped put the second in the chair, and we are followers of the third. It is with peculiar satisfaction and with the most unselfish purpose that I arise before you to second the nomination of William Jennings Bryan as president of the United States."

Jerry Simpson was then announced, amid more cheers. It was enough, he said, to say of Mr. Bryan that he had risen head and shoulders above his peers in the Democratic party, and that he had also captured the People's party as well. Mr. Bryan, he declared, represented the struggle for human rights, and he wanted the Populists to do all in their power to elect him, thus taking the first step toward restoring the country to its old-time glory.

G. F. Washburn, of Massachusetts, added his eulogy. He said:

"I rise to second the nomination of William J. Bryan because embodied in him is the spirit of many millions of free American people. He has the wisdom of Jefferson, the heroism of Jackson and the magnetism of Lincoln. The hope of the nation rests in that personality, and I trust that he will be nominated by acclamation."

The chair recognized "Cyclone" Davis, of Texas, and a shout went up as the tall form of Mr. Davis loomed up.

Mr. Davis announced that in former conventions he had been a political opponent of Mr. Bryan, but had now come over to the ranks of the elect, and believed that in him lay the hopes of the nation and the only man who can "throttle the oppressors of the people."

"We have Bryan clubs down our way," said the speaker, "and I can promise you next fall a Bryan club of 250,000 majority. We are with him heart and soul. McKinley has been called the Napoleon of republican politics, and perhaps the name is not inappropriate, for we all know that Napoleon made a dash into the Orient and it did not pan out very well."

Keeping up his Napoleonic simile, the speaker predicted that the "Napoleon of republican politics" would meet his Waterloo next November.

There was loud calls of "Butler," "Butler," and Marion Butler, of North Carolina, was greeted with applause as he came forward.

Briefly, but eloquently, Senator Butler seconded Bryan's nomination. "I, for one, said he, 'will put into this fight all that is in my power. I know every Populist in the United States will do the same in any capacity he may be told to act, and I appeal to you to make his election certain next November.'"

W. J. Thomas, of Colorado, the next speaker, said that Colorado had never been behind in the espousal of reform measures, and that the state would again be found in the column in 1900, as a supporter of Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Olds, of Pennsylvania, now 86 years old, was next introduced.

Mr. Olds, bent and whitebearded, said that he had walked 1,000 miles to vote for Henry Clay in 1844. "I came 1,000 miles to vote for W. J. Bryan in this convention," said Mr. Olds, "and I hope you will not allow me to be defeated, as I was in 1844."

Cries of "We won't," greeted Mr. Olds, as he sat down.

Senator Allen, of Nebraska, then stepped forward.

"Mr. Chairman," said he, amid perfect silence, "I move that the rules of this convention be suspended and that William Jennings Bryan be nominated by acclamation for president of the United States."

Amid the din that followed Senator Allen's motion and its seconding, the speaker's voice was faintly heard calling on those delegates who favored the motion to rise and remain standing.

As one man the convention arose. Hats, umbrellas, flags and canes were waved in the air amid deafening cheers, the uproar being increased by the band playing "Old Hundred." Some enthusiastic delegate tore loose a large picture of Mr. Bryan, hanging in front of the speaker's desk, and hoisted it to the table, where, cheering for Bryan, he held it while the convention applauded frantically.

"I propose three cheers for W. J. Bryan," cried George F. Washburn, of Massachusetts. They were given with a will, and the convention then quieted down.

"I announce the nomination, by a unanimous vote, of William Jennings Bryan for president of the United States," said Chairman Patterson, as soon as he could be heard.

Another cheer greeted this announcement.

THE POPULIST PLATFORM.

The Gold Standard Act of the Present Congress Denounced—Other Points of the Platform.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 11.—The platform adopted by the People's party national convention consists of a preamble and a long series of resolutions. The preamble congratulates the People's party on the marvelous growth of its principles during the last four years among people of all political parties. This condition, the platform continues, gives renewed hope and courage for the future, in the efforts of the party to avert the subversion of free institutions by corporate power. And to resist the evident purpose of the Republican party to establish a strongly centralized imperial government. The resolutions, on imperialism and militarism deplore the conduct of the administration in the Spanish-American war and denounce its conduct in connection with the Philippines. Referring to the latter matter they say it is in conflict with all the precedents of our national life, at war with the constitution and without reasonable excuse. Demand is made for the cessation of this war. With reference, in this connection, to Porto Rico, it is declared that the declaration of independence, the constitution and the American flag are one and inseparable. It is also declared that the island of Porto Rico is a part of the territory of the United States, made so by our promises and the consent of the Porto Ricans themselves.

The increase of the standing army is denounced as wholly unwarranted by the conditions of the country, and it is asserted that this tendency will inevitably result in an unnecessary burden on the taxpayers.

There is a strong resolution of sympathy for the Boers, a declaration against the monopolizing of public land for speculative purposes, a demand for a return to the original homestead policy, a declaration for the placing of all goods controlled by the trusts upon the free tariff list, a condemnation for the governor of Idaho and the federal government in connection with the Coner d'Alene troubles, and the usual demand for the initiative and referendum.

Trusts are denounced and the Populist methods for the control of public utilities, such as the railroads and the telegraph systems, and the issuance of money, is recommended as the proper remedy to cope with the trust evil. It is said the people must act directly, without the intervention of representatives who may be controlled or influenced, hence they demand direct legislation giving to the people the law-making and veto power, under the initiative and referendum. A majority of the people, they assert, can never be corruptly influenced.

The importation of Japanese labor under contracts is denounced as the notorious and flagrant violation of the laws, and the resolution pledges the party to promote a stringent exclusion law against all kinds of Mongolian and Malayan immigration.

The gold standard act of the present congress is denounced in strong terms, and it is asserted that "while barring out the money of the constitution, this law opens the printing mints of the treasury to the free coining of paper money to enrich the few and impoverish the many."

The system of issuing injunctions in cases of dispute between employers and employees is, under certain circumstances, denounced as an evil, and to remedy it legislation is demanded. The election of president, vice president and United States senators by direct vote of the people is also urged, as is the government ownership of railroads and telegraph lines, home rule in the territories, the employment of idle labor on public works in time of depression, and the payment of just pensions to disabled soldiers, and the establishment of postal savings banks. A fair ballot is also demanded and "the wholesale system of disfranchising by coercion and intimidation" in some states is condemned as unrepresentative and undemocratic, and to remedy this defect it is declared to be the duty of the several legislatures to take such action as will secure a fair, free and fair ballot and an honest count.

BARKER AND DONNELLY THE NOMINEES.

Middle-of-the-Road Populists Named Them—Howard Withdrew In the Interest of Harmony.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—The Middle-of-the-Road Populists nominated the following ticket:

For President—WHARTON BARKER, of Pennsylvania.
For Vice President—IGNATIUS DONNELLY, of Minnesota.

For a time during the session it appeared as if nothing could prevent a complete disruption of the plans so carefully wrought out by the handful of men who separated themselves on Feb. 19, at Lincoln, Neb., from the fusionist element of the People's party. Since Tuesday a steady current against the cut and dried choice of Barker and Donnelly by the initiative and referendum plan had almost destroyed the foundation upon which that ticket stood. Former Congressman Howard, of Alabama, had suddenly become the idol of an apparently winning number of delegates, and he clinched his claims on the presidential nomination through his eloquent address in assuming the temporary chairmanship of the convention on Wednesday.

As the time drew near for nominations word was quietly passed, confirmed by Mr. Howard himself, that the Barker following would bolt

the convention should their leader be turned down. Owing to the fact that the Alabama delegation could not support Mr. Howard, matters were further complicated. Howard took the only course for the restoration of harmony. He announced that he had no ambition to head the ticket and came to Cincinnati without the slightest expectation of being named. Then he withdrew his name. Nevertheless, when the rollcall was completed on the first ballot, Howard was at the top of the column—only a few short of the nomination.

On the second ballot Howard's plainly stated desire for harmony took effect, and the 70 votes which went to Donnelly on the first roll call were gradually worked over to the Barker column, it being understood that Mr. Donnelly's name had been withdrawn, although the Minnesota delegation protested against the withdrawal. Minnesota was passed at its own request, and when the other states had voted it was apparent that the 48 votes of Minnesota could settle everything in a harmonious manner by going to the Pennsylvanian. They were cast for Barker and gave him the requisite majority over all. The generous Howard moved to make the selection of Howard unanimous, which was done.

Without a dissenting voice, Ignatius Donnelly was declared vice-presidential nominee. The next order of business was the matter of national committeemen and the selection of a chairman for that body. Jo A. Parker, of Kentucky, was chosen national chairman, a victory for the anti-Barker people.

The convention was then declared adjourned sine die.

Followers of Social Democracy and Eugene V. Debs for the presidency of the United States found small comfort in the convention, which they had hoped a few days ago would endorse their idol. Three of them—W. H. Farmer, of Texas, A. W. Ricker, and L. M. Morris, of Iowa—left the convention after the nominations had been completed, and it was reported would support the Debs ticket, but their action attracted no attention whatever.

GREENBACK PLANK ADOPTED

But Middle-of-the-Roads Declared for Free Silver Until Their Plan Was Adopted.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—The Middle-of-the-road Populist convention reiterated the Omaha platform. The money plank demanded:

A scientific and absolute paper money, based upon the entire wealth and population of the nation, not redeemable in any specified commodity, but made a full legal tender for all debts and receivable for all taxes and public dues and issued by the government only without the intervention of banks and in sufficient quantity to meet the demands of commerce, is the best currency that can be devised; but until such a financial system is secured, which we shall press for adoption, we favor the free and unlimited coining of both silver and gold at the legal ratio of 16 to 1.

Some of the other planks were:

Fifth—We demand the levy and collection of a graduated tax on incomes and inheritances and a constitutional amendment to secure the same, if necessary.

Sixth—We demand the election of president, vice president, federal judges and United States senators by direct vote of the people.

Seventh—We are opposed to trusts, and declare the contentions between the old parties on the monopoly question is a sham battle, and that no solution of this mighty problem is possible without the adoption of the principles of public ownership of public utilities.

McALL MISSION WORK.

Convention Opened at Pittsburg—Mrs. Charles H. Parkhurst, of New York, Presided.

PITTSBURG, May 11.—The seventeenth annual meeting of the McAll association was opened at the First Presbyterian church by the president of the association, Mrs. Charles H. Parkhurst, followed by devotional exercises by Mrs. L. H. Wayland. Mrs. Charles H. Spencer, president of the local auxiliary, made the address of welcome. At the rollcall of delegates 44 answered. They represent the association in the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Lunch was served to the members and delegates at the church and the following program was followed in the afternoon session:

Devotional service, Miss Anna H. Parsons; report of general secretary, Miss Caroline Remington; report of corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. L. Wayland; hymn 407 "Work for the Night is Coming"; report of treasurer, Mrs. A. R. Perkins; solo, Miss Catherine Miller; address, "Our Open Door," Mrs. Francis Jordan; prayer, reports from auxiliaries.

The event of the evening session was the address of Rev. Lyman Abbott, late pastor of the Plymouth church, Brooklyn, who talked on the objects of the association and the work they have done in France.

Keeping up his Napoleonic simile, the speaker predicted that the "Napoleon of republican politics" would meet his Waterloo next November.

There was loud calls of "Butler," "Butler," and Marion Butler, of North Carolina, was greeted with applause as he came forward.

Briefly, but eloquently, Senator Butler seconded Bryan's nomination. "I, for one, said he, 'will put into this fight all that is in my power. I know every Populist in the United States will do the same in any capacity he may be told to act, and I appeal to you to make his election certain next November.'"

W. J. Thomas, of Colorado, the next speaker, said that Colorado had never been behind in the espousal of reform measures, and that the state would again be found in the column in 1900, as a supporter of Mr. Bryan.

Mr. Olds, of Pennsylvania, now 86 years old, was next introduced.

Mr. Olds, bent and whitebearded, said that he had walked 1,000 miles to vote for Henry Clay in 1844. "I came 1,000 miles to vote for W. J. Bryan in this convention," said Mr. Olds, "and I hope you will not allow me to be defeated, as I was in 1844."

Cries of "We won't," greeted Mr. Olds, as he sat down.

Senator Allen, of Nebraska, then stepped forward.

"Mr. Chairman," said he, amid perfect silence, "I move that the rules of this convention be suspended and that William Jennings Bryan be nominated by acclamation for president of the United States."

Amid the din that followed Senator Allen's motion and its seconding, the speaker's voice was faintly heard calling on those delegates who favored the motion to rise and remain standing.

As one man the convention arose. Hats, umbrellas, flags and canes were waved in the air amid deafening cheers, the uproar being increased by the band playing "Old Hundred." Some enthusiastic delegate tore loose a large picture of Mr. Bryan, hanging in front of the speaker's desk, and hoisted it to the table, where, cheering for Bryan, he held it while the convention applauded frantically.

"I propose three cheers for W. J. Bryan," cried George F. Washburn, of Massachusetts. They were given with a will, and the convention then quieted down.

"I announce the nomination, by a unanimous vote, of William Jennings Bryan for president of the United States," said Chairman Patterson, as soon as he could be heard.

Another cheer greeted this announcement.

WILKESBARE, Pa., May 11.—At Malinecroft convent 17 young ladies took the white veil and 20 sisters took the final vows.

THE POPULIST PLATFORM.

The Gold Standard Act of the Present Congress Denounced—Other Points of the Platform.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., May 11.—The platform adopted by the People's party national convention consists of a preamble and a long series of resolutions. The preamble congratulates the People's party on the marvelous growth of its principles during the last four years among people of all political parties. This condition, the platform continues, gives renewed hope and courage for the future, in the efforts of the party to avert the subversion of free institutions by corporate power. And to resist the evident purpose of the Republican party to establish a strongly centralized imperial government. The resolutions on imperialism and militarism deplore the conduct of the administration in the Spanish-American war and denounce its conduct in connection with the Philippines. Referring to the latter matter they say it is in conflict with all the precedents of our national life, at war with the constitution and without reasonable excuse. Demand is made for the cessation of this war. With reference, in this connection, to Porto Rico, it is declared that the declaration of independence, the constitution and the American flag are one and inseparable. It is also declared that the island of Porto Rico is a part of the territory of the United States, made so by our promises and the consent of the Porto Ricans themselves.

The increase of the standing army is denounced as wholly unwarranted by the conditions of the country, and it is asserted that this tendency will inevitably result in an unnecessary burden on the taxpayers.

There is a strong resolution of sympathy for the Boers, a declaration against the monopolizing of public land for speculative purposes, a demand for a return to the original homestead policy, a declaration for the placing of all goods controlled by the trusts upon the free tariff list, a condemnation for the governor of Idaho and the federal government in connection with the Couer d'Alene troubles, and the usual demand for the initiative and referendum.

Trusts are denounced and the Populist methods for the control of public utilities, such as the railroads and the telegraph systems, and of the issuance of money, is recommended as the proper remedy to cope with the trust evil. It is said the people must act directly, without the intervention of representatives who may be controlled or influenced, hence they demand direct legislation giving to the people the law-making and veto power, under the initiative and referendum. A majority of the people, they assert, can never be corruptly influenced.

The importation of Japanese labor under contracts is denounced as the notorious and flagrant violation of the laws, and the resolution pledges the party to promote a stringent exclusion law against all kinds of Mongolian and Malayan immigration.

The gold standard act of the present congress is denounced in strong terms, and it is asserted that "while barring out the money of the constitution, this law opens the printing mints of the treasury to the free coining of paper money to enrich the few and impoverish the many."

The system of issuing injunctions in cases of dispute between employers and employees is, under certain circumstances, denounced as an evil, and to remedy it legislation is demanded. The election of president, vice president and United States senators by direct vote of the people is also urged, as is the government ownership of railroads and telegraph lines, home rule in the territories, the employment of idle labor on public works in time of depression, and the payment of just pensions to disabled soldiers, and the establishment of postal savings banks. A fair ballot is also demanded and "the wholesale system of disfranchising by coercion and intimidation" in some states is condemned as unrepugnant and undemocratic, and to remedy this defect it is declared to be the duty of the several legislatures to take such action as will secure a full, free and fair ballot and an honest count.

BARKER AND DONNELLY THE NOMINEES.

Middle-of-the-Road Populists Named Them—Howard Withdrew In the Interest of Harmony.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—The Middle-of-the-Road Populists nominated the following ticket:

For President—WHARTON BARKER, of Pennsylvania.

For Vice President—IGNATIUS DONNELLY, of Minnesota.

For a time during the session it appeared as if nothing could prevent a complete disruption of the plans so carefully wrought out by the handful of men who separated themselves on Feb. 19, at Lincoln, Neb., from the fusionist element of the People's party. Since Tuesday a steady current against the cut and dried choice of Barker and Donnelly by the initiative and referendum plan had almost destroyed the foundation upon which that ticket stood. Former Congressman Howard, of Alabama, had suddenly become the idol of an apparently winning number of delegates, and he clinched his claims on the presidential nomination through his eloquent address in assuming the temporary chairmanship of the convention on Wednesday.

As the time drew near for nominations word was quietly passed, confirmed by Mr. Howard himself, that the Barker following would bolt

the convention should their leader be turned down. Owing to the fact that the Alabama delegation could not support Mr. Howard, matters were further complicated. Howard took the only course for the restoration of harmony. He announced that he had no ambition to head the ticket and came to Cincinnati without the slightest expectation of being named. Then he withdrew his name. Nevertheless, when the rollcall was completed on the first ballot, Howard was at the top of the column—only a few short of the nomination.

On the second ballot Howard's plainly stated desire for harmony took effect, and the 70 votes which went to Donnelly on the first roll call were gradually worked over to the Barker column, it being understood that Mr. Donnelly's name had been withdrawn, although the Minnesota delegation protested against the withdrawal. Minnesota was passed at its own request, and when the other states had voted it was apparent that the 48 votes of Minnesota could settle everything in a harmonious manner by going to the Pennsylvania. They were cast for Barker and gave him the requisite majority over all. The generous Howard moved to make the selection of Howard unanimous, which was done.

Without a dissenting voice, Ignatius Donnelly was declared vice-presidential nominee. The next order of business was the matter of national committeemen and the selection of a chairman for that body. Jo A. Parker, of Kentucky, was chosen national chairman, a victory for the anti-Barker people.

The convention was then declared adjourned sine die.

Followers of Social Democracy and Eugene V. Debs for the presidency of the United States found small comfort in the convention, which they had hoped a few days ago would endorse their idol. Three of them—W. H. Farmer, of Texas, A. W. Ricker, and L. M. Morris, of Iowa—left the convention after the nominations had been completed, and it was reported would support the Debs ticket, but their action attracted no attention whatever.

GREENBACK PLANK ADOPTED

But Middle-of-the-Road Declared for Free Silver Until Their Plan Was Adopted.

CINCINNATI, May 11.—The Middle-of-the-road Populist convention reiterated the Omaha platform. The money plank demanded:

A scientific and absolute paper money, based upon the entire wealth and population of the nation, not redeemable in any specified commodity, but made a full legal tender for all debts and receivable for all taxes and public dues and issued by the government only without the intervention of banks and in sufficient quantity to meet the demands of commerce, is the best currency that can be devised; but until such a financial system is secured, which we shall press for adoption, we favor the free and unlimited coining of both silver and gold at the legal ratio of 16 to 1.

Some of the other planks were:

Fifth—We demand the levy and collection of a graduated tax on incomes and inheritances and a constitutional amendment to secure the same, if necessary.

Sixth—We demand the election of president, vice president, federal judges and United States senators by direct vote of the people.

Seventh—We are opposed to trusts, and declare the contentions between the old parties on the monopoly question is a sham battle, and that no solution of this mighty problem is possible without the adoption of the principles of public ownership of public utilities.

McALL MISSION WORK.

Convention Opened at Pittsburg—Mrs. Charles H. Parkhurst, of New York, Presided.

PITTSBURG, May 11.—The seventeenth annual meeting of the McAll association was opened at the First Presbyterian church by the president of the association, Mrs. Charles H. Parkhurst, followed by devotional exercises by Mrs. L. H. Wayland. Mrs. Charles H. Spencer, president of the local auxiliary, made the address of welcome. At the rollcall of delegates 44 answered. They represent the association in the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Lunch was served to the members and delegates at the church and the following program was followed in the afternoon session:

Devotional service, Miss Anna H. Parsons; report of general secretary, Miss Caroline Remington; report of corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. L. Wayland; hymn 407, "Work for the Night is Coming"; report of treasurer, Mrs. A. R. Perkins; solo, Miss Catherine Miller; address, "Our Open Door," Mrs. Francis Jordan; prayer, reports from auxiliaries.

The event of the evening session was the address of Rev. Lyman Abbott, late pastor of the Plymouth church, Brooklyn, who talked on the objects of the association and the work they have done in France.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT.

ROBERT HAILES HAD HIS ANKLE AND FOOT HURT.

By a Falling Roll at the Boyce Foundry About 9 o'Clock This Morning.

Robert Hailes, a young man employed at Boyce's foundry, met with a painful accident while working there about 9 o'clock this morning. A roll which he was handling, weighing about half a ton, got out of his control and fell on his ankle and foot, causing a severe bruise, but it is believed no bones were broken. He was taken to his home on Calcutta road.

BIRD OF WISDOM.

He's a Bouncer from Bounceville, With Less Than Twelve Feet Expansion.

Carpenter John Smith has him. He was captured near Blackhawk, Beaver county, Pa., by J. W. Shearer, a well-known farmer, after his owlship had gotten away with four guinea fowls. Shearer set a box snare for him, and when his lordship came for another meal of fowl, he was gathered in out of the wet. The big bird made a rough fight before he gave up the battle and succumbed to the prowess of his captor, who finally succeeded in tying his talons together and brought him to our townsman, Mr. Smith, where you can see the royal bird if you so desire.

Chief of Police Thompson yesterday received a letter addressed to Henry L. Shappe, 277 Lisbon street, East Liverpool, O.

The communication was from Frank Diefenbach, Frankfurt, Germany. An interpreter was found in Otto Smitbaur, and he stated that the writer desired information as to the whereabouts of Shappe, as there had been a large fortune left to him in Germany by one of his relatives.

The police succeeded in locating their man this morning in the person of Henry L. Schepp, who resides on Lisbon street and is a butcher. The letter was turned over to him and he will correspond with Diefenbach in regard to the fortune the amount of which is not yet known.

DISAGREEMENT ON LIBRARY PLAN.

the commission, in speaking of the matter this morning, stated that to his mind the plan was one that would not be acceptable to the people of the city and to be convinced they simply had to examine the two that had been selected as coming in direct competition with the one accepted. He stated that at a meeting of the Potters club last night when at least 25 of the potters of the city were present and looked over the plans not one of them selected the plans picked by the commission. He further stated that while he favored East Liverpool in everything as far as possible he could not, as a member of the commission, favor the plans accepted by the commission and was forced to tender his resignation rather than be a party to putting up a building that would not satisfy the people. He said he believed in a building having an exterior as well as an interior appearance, and the one accepted did not have the exterior appearance that many of the others had. In this opinion he said he was joined by Mr. Smith and a great many others who had seen the plans. He expressed sorrow that he was not able to favor the plans of Mr. Scott, but said he could not conscientiously do it, as a member of the commission and was sorry that he was forced to resign.

The colonel said that he and Mr. Smith were both opposed to the plans accepted, because there was but one frontage, and that on Fourth street, and because of a want of exterior appearance. In their minds if there was to be only one frontage it should have been on Broadway, as it is the most prominent thoroughfare of the two streets.

He closed his statement by saying that in vindication of his position he would ask that the three plans, Nos. 2, 19 and 29, be put on exhibition in some prominent place where the public could see them.

OUR PUBLIC LIBRARY.

CARNEGIE COMMISSION DECIDES UPON THE PLANS.

A. W. Scott, the Well Known Local Architect, Secures the Plum.

Our townsman is receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends today, in consequence of the fact that he is the lucky architect and individual whose model of the Carnegie library was last night accepted by the library committee. Mr. Scott has just cause for pride in this verdict, as there were 31 competing architects in the race, hailing from the leading cities and embracing men of national repute in architecture. The public is aware of the fact that the contest finally narrowed down to three contestants. The library committee met last night and, after carefully considering the three remaining plans and specifications, adopted the model of our townsman by a vote of three to two.

The citizens of East Liverpool will note with pleasure the fact that a local architect has carried off this much-to-be-desired prize, in competition with such a brilliant field of talent. Of course the public is aware of the fact that the award was made in conformity with the idea of superior beauty, utility and excellence, as the identity of the competing architects was held secret, with no names or marks attached to the plans by which the artist could be recognized.

A. W. Scott is a comparatively young man, in the very prime and vigor of life, and yet he has been engaged in producing architectural designs for the past 14 years. He is an intelligent enthusiast upon the beauties of architecture, loving his profession very dearly, and making use of every talent vouchsafed him by the hand of the Master in forging to the front, believing that there are always choice gifts in view for those who reach the top rounds of the ladder. The earnest wish of his host of friends is that the contemplated structure may prove a lasting monument to his skill.

OUR PUBLIC LIBRARY.

CARNEGIE COMMISSION DECIDES UPON THE PLANS.

A. W. Scott, the Well Known Local Architect, Secures the Plum.

Our townsman is receiving the congratulations of his numerous friends today, in consequence of the fact that he is the lucky architect and individual whose model of the Carnegie library was last night accepted by the library committee. Mr. Scott has just cause for pride in this verdict, as there were 31 competing architects in the race, hailing from the leading cities and embracing men of national repute in architecture. The public is aware of the fact that the contest finally narrowed down to three contestants. The library committee met last night and, after carefully considering the three remaining plans and specifications, adopted the model of our townsman by a vote of three to two.

The citizens of East Liverpool will note with pleasure the fact that a local architect has carried off this much-to-be-desired prize, in competition with such a brilliant field of talent. Of course the public is aware of the fact that the award was made in conformity with the idea of superior beauty, utility and excellence, as the identity of the competing architects was held secret, with no names or marks attached to the plans by which the artist could be recognized.

A. W. Scott is a comparatively young man, in the very prime and vigor of life, and yet he has been engaged in producing architectural designs for the past 14 years. He is an intelligent enthusiast upon the beauties of architecture, loving his profession very dearly, and making use of every talent vouchsafed him by the hand of the Master in forging to the front, believing that there are always choice gifts in view for those who reach the top rounds of the ladder. The earnest wish of his host of friends is that the contemplated structure may prove a lasting monument to his skill.

Arrest Expected.

This morning Detective Joe Moore, of the Cleveland & Pittsburg force, spent a short time in the city, and it is very likely that an arrest will be made before very long. At the station Moore was met by Officer Dawson and the two took a trip to the lower end of the city. They would not say anything about their intentions, but future developments will be awaited with interest.

COMPLAINTS.

Street Commissioner Bryan Filed Three With Mayor Davidson * This Morning.

Commissioner Bryan has started the crusade against the people who throw paper on the streets, and this morning registered three complaints with Mayor Davidson. They were turned over to the marshal, who notified the people to be more careful in the future.

Parties in the city have already commenced to steal flowers and yesterday Mayor Davidson received a complaint from Sheridan avenue residents, stating that somebody had raided their flower beds the night before.

Mayor Davidson has no sympathy for people who steal flowers and says he proposes to make an example of the first offender and give him a fine that he will not soon forget. The law provides that the offender shall be fined not more than $150 or be imprisoned not more than 30 days in jail. The mayor says the parties are not satisfied with taking the flowers, but the majority of times destroy the plant.

Ed. Cunningham, who was arrested yesterday for being drunk, was fined $6.60 and released.

Frank Phillips is still in jail awaiting the arrival of some one with $5.60 to secure his release.

Gore Spilled.

There was a small riot at "Chic" Gamble's house, Wellsville, one night this week, but when the police arrived the only indications of it were splashes of blood around the house. The neighbors complain that riots and disturbances have been nightly occurrences there for several weeks. Gamble was formerly a resident of East Liverpool.

Not Until Next Year.

An exchange calls attention to the fact that taxes this year will not be based on the new decennial appraisal. The appraisal will have to pass through the hands of both county and state boards of equalization before it can be placed on the duplicate, and this cannot be accomplished before 1901.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Joseph Maley, a roller at the freight depot, is off duty on account of illness.

The household effects of Frank Nolan were received at the freight depot this morning from Salem.

William Daniels, a prominent contractor of Allegheny, is spending a few days in the city on business.

The last of the trading boats which have been tied up about this place, left yesterday afternoon for the south.

Mrs. E. W. Thompson is seriously ill at her home on Second street with typhoid fever. Her condition is very low.

The Grand Army will meet in their hall this evening and further the arrangements for the Memorial day exercises.

The noon train, due in this city at 12:15, was one hour and 45 minutes late in arriving today. The delay was caused by some trouble on the river division of the road near Empire.

Yesterday afternoon a dog ate some poisoned meat in Locust alley and afterward walked down Center alley, and when near Washington street lay down and died.

At a meeting of kilnmen's local No. 9, which will be held in Brotherhood hall this evening, delegates to the national convention will be elected. A lively meeting is expected.

The entertainment given last evening by the Ladies' Aid society of the Smith's Ferry M. E. church was attended by a large number of persons from this city. The affair was a success in every particular and a neat sum of money was realized.

William McComb, accompanied by Mrs. Susan McComb and Mrs. Agnes Robinson, who have been spending the week in the city visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. William Cuthbert, of May street, returned to their home in Manchester, N. H., yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Randall, of the Watch Tower Tract society of Allegheny, who has been spending several days in the city, left yesterday for Canton. Mr. Randall has been employed in missionary work almost all of his life, and has spent 20 years in this work in China. While here he was the guest of A. J. Moore, of Fourth street.

Captain David McDevitt has received a very favorable letter from Brigadier General Thomas W. Minchell, of Cleveland. General Minchell and Colonel Macey, with their staff and field officers to the number of 24, together with a good representation from every one of the 13 companies of the regiment, will be here and appear in the parade on July 4.

The river continues to fall and the marks at the wharf today registered 3.4 feet and falling. This is too low for boats to run and it is expected that unless a heavy rain falls, navigation will be suspended on the Ohio by tomorrow. The wickets at the Davis island dam were raised and this will cause an increased fall. The river is lower now for this time of the year than it has been for two years.

GATES' RESIGNATION.

Mission to Paris Given as an Excuse.

LAMB GIVES ANOTHER REASON.

He Said the Wire Magnate Knew Something Was Coming—Lambert Also Quit as President—Gates' Adherents Chosen to Fill Vacancies.

New York, May 11.—Changes of a sweeping character in the affairs of the American Steel and Wire company were announced, after a session of the board of directors in this city.

John W. Gates resigned the chairmanship of the board of directors, and is now on his way to Europe. He is succeeded by Alfred Clifford, of Chicago.

All the new officers, directors and committeemen named are said to be in absolute harmony with Mr. Gates and his policy.

Following the meeting of the directors a voluminous statement narrating in detail the causes which led to the changes in the personnel of the company was given out. It started off with Mr. Gates' letter of resignation. In it he states that for more than a year he had contemplated retirement, and should have taken the step on May 1 but for the recent controversy. He justified his action in closing the mills three weeks ago, and protests against the fabric of abuse and villification which has been heaped upon him, based upon an alleged interview. He said he resigned to accept the place of Illinois commissioner to the Paris exposition, to which he was appointed by Governor Tanner.

George Alfred Lamb, the lawyer, whose charges against President Gates were dismissed on Wednesday by Magistrate Zeller, gave out this statement after he heard of Mr. Gates' departure for Europe:

"Mr. Gates came to New York with the avowed determination of fighting the proceedings brought against him to a finish and of inflicting drastic punishment on all of his critics, and especially upon anyone who dared to prosecute him. The proceedings brought, however, seemed to have promised more interesting developments than Mr. Gates cared to face, and doubtless upon the advice of his formidable array of eminent counsel he has taken advantage of the first technical opportunity that presented itself to leave the country."

A GIRL KILLED

IN STRIKE RIOT.

Rock Thrown at a Car Struck Her and She Died Afterward at a Hospital.

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—Another fatality as a result of the street car strike occurred here. As Flora Siegfried, a young woman, was crossing Washington street, carrying an infant in her arms, she was hit on the head with a brick that had been hurled at a passing car on the suburban system. Her skull was fractured, and she died after being taken to a hospital.

The street car men of the East St. Louis lines struck.

A conference was held between Governor Stephens, the members of the executive committee of the local Street Railway Employees' association and the officers and attorneys of the Transit company.

The strikers' officials offered to arbitrate, provided the proposition to do so came from the railway company. The railway officials firmly but courteously refused to entertain any such proposal, stating that they had nothing to arbitrate.

Pearson Seated by the House.

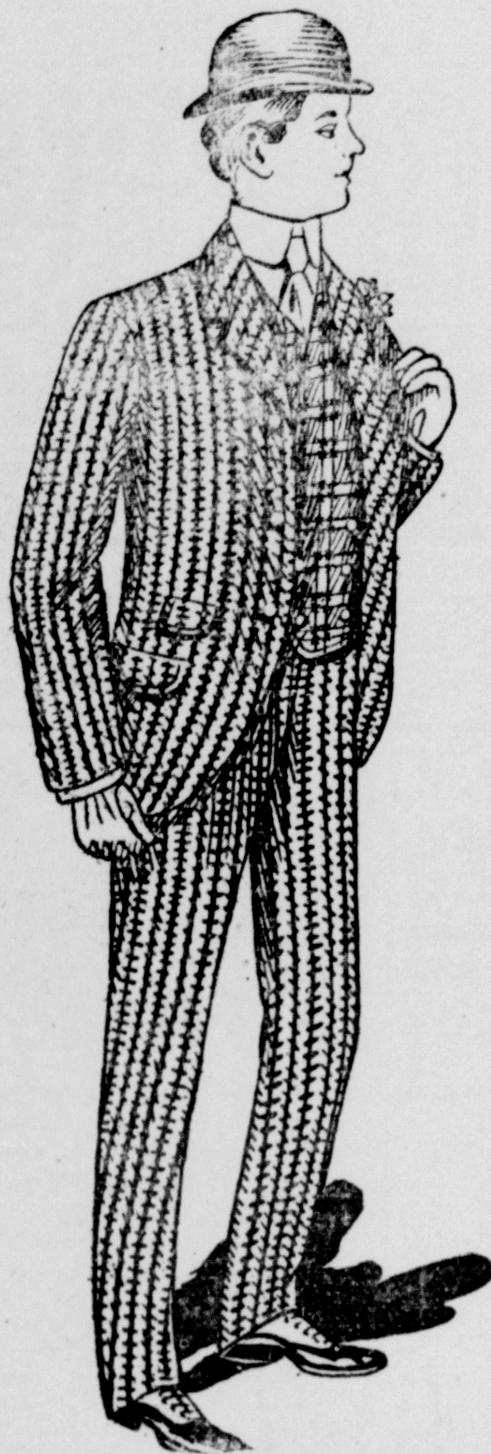

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The house, by a narrow margin of two votes, unseated Mr. Crawford, of North Carolina, a Democrat, and seated in his place Mr. Pearson, of North Carolina. The minority resolution declaring the sitting member entitled to the seat was defeated by one vote. Mr. Jack, of Pennsylvania, Republican, voted with the Democrats on both rollcalls. On the first vote, 15 Republicans were absent and unpaired, and on the second 19 were absent and unpaired.

Strike at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 11.—All was quiet at the Buttonwood mine, but after the riots of the day before a great many of the English-speaking workmen did not report for work, and there was only a partial resumption of operations at the colliery. The strikers were active again and had their pickets out on the road leading to the mine. They did not resort to force, however, but tried to persuade the English-speaking miners from going to work.

The noon train, due in this city at 12:15, was one hour and 45 minutes late in arriving today. The delay was caused by some trouble on the river division of the road near Empire.

Yesterday afternoon a dog ate some poisoned meat in Locust alley and afterward walked down Center alley, and when near Washington street lay down and died.

At a meeting of kilnmen's local No. 9, which will be held in Brotherhood hall this evening, delegates to the national convention will be elected. A lively meeting is expected.

The entertainment given last evening by the Ladies' Aid society of the Smith's Ferry M. E. church was attended by a large number of persons from this city. The affair was a success in every particular and a neat sum of money was realized.

Captain David McDevitt has received a very favorable letter from Brigadier General Thomas W. Minchell, of Cleveland. General Minchell and Colonel Macey, with their staff and field officers to the number of 24, together with a good representation from every one of the 13 companies of the regiment, will be here and appear in the parade on July 4.

The river continues to fall and the marks at the wharf today registered 3.4 feet and falling. This is too low for boats to run and it is expected that unless a heavy rain falls, navigation will be suspended on the Ohio by tomorrow. The wickets at the Davis island dam were raised and this will cause an increased fall. The river is lower now for this time of the year than it has been for two years.

GATES' RESIGNATION.

Mission to Paris Given as an Excuse.

LAMB GIVES ANOTHER REASON.

He Said the Wire Magnate Knew Something Was Coming. Lambert Also Quit as President. Gates' Adherents Chosen to Fill Vacancies.

New York, May 11.—Changes of a sweeping character in the affairs of the American Steel and Wire company were announced, after a session of the board of directors in this city.

John W. Gates resigned the chairmanship of the board of directors, and is now on his way to Europe. He is succeeded by Alfred Chifford, of Chicago.

All the new officers, directors and committeemen named are said to be in absolute harmony with Mr. Gates and his policy.

Following the meeting of the directors a voluminous statement narrating in detail the causes which led to the changes in the personnel of the company was given out. It started off with Mr. Gates' letter of resignation. In it he states that for more than a year he had contemplated retirement, and should have taken the step on May 1 but for the recent controversy. He justified his action in closing the mills three weeks ago, and protests against the fabric of abuse and villification which has been heaped upon him, based upon an alleged interview. He said he resigned to accept the place of Illinois commissioner to the Paris exposition, to which he was appointed by Governor Tanner.

George Alfred Lamb, the lawyer, whose charges against President Gates were dismissed on Wednesday by Magistrate Zeller, gave out this statement after he heard of Mr. Gates' departure for Europe:
